

Khaiko Lodge

on Likoma Island

Named Likoma by the first settlers (after marveling at the beauty of the island), this biggest island on Lake Malawi boasts of un-spoilt nature and some of the best beaches in Malawi. One of the most famous landmarks and assets of the island is the old St Peter's Anglican Cathedral. Built by the early Universities Mission to Central Africa (UMCA) missionaries in 1905, the Cathedral is simply a marvel. Coupled with its friendly and ever-smiling local population, the Island is an ultimate tourist destination. Situated on the south-eastern side of the island is the beautiful, cosy, Khaiko Lodge – opening onto one of the most breathtaking sandy and crystal clear beaches on the island.

Built on a little hilltop, with a natural rocky landscape, the Lodge has 5 executive and spacious rooms – each with an adjoining lounge. The living quarters are complimented by a Restaurant serving local and international dishes; with a well-stocked pub serving assorted drinks – all served by very friendly staff who are always ready to go an extra mile to satisfy visitors.

The surrounding landscaping is unique to Khaiko Lodge only. Khaiko commands an excellent view of the lake, with the Mozambique hills just on the other side of the lake to the east. Visitors enjoy superb reflections of rays across the lake as the sun or moon rises above the Mozambican hills nearby.

The Lodge has 5 executive, spacious and self-contained rooms – each with an adjoining lounge for extra comfort. The astonishing stone landscaping is unique to Khaiko.

The Lodge beach and grounds also provide an inviting safe atmosphere for those wishing to pitch their tents at a negotiated rate.

For visitors to Khaiko, a visit and tour of the St Peter's Cathedral is a must. Time permitting, attending the colorful Sunday service is highly recommended. The Lodge provides, on demand and at reasonable charges, boat rides round the island, to Chizumulu Island and neighbouring Mozambique only a short distance away. A walk or boat ride to the nearby rocky Mbuza Point provides visitors with a rare opportunity to be at total peace with nature. Sheer tranquility, while watching Likoma's famous brightly coloured mbuna and cichlids fish species. The unpolluted sandy beach accords visitors an excellent playground for beach games, e.g. beach football.

Depending on the season of the year, tourists may have the opportunity to watch popular traditional dances like "mganda" and "chioda"..
